East Sounds: Inclusive Music Transition Sessions- This accessible and inclusive music activity offers young people in Year 5 and above the opportunity to explore acoustic instruments alongside accessible music technology. Through creative music-making, pupils are supported to develop confidence, communication, and emotional expression while building musical skills. Designed to support a positive transition into high school, sessions create a welcoming, low-pressure environment where all children and young people — including those with additional support needs or different ways of learning — can take part, connect with others, and explore music at their own pace.
